DRIVER CRUSHED UNDER CAB AS TRUCK UPSETS

Maurice Barrick Spencer, 35, Patapago, Md., was fatally injured early this morning about one mile south of Helderburg on the Harrisburg road when the truck he was operating left the road and overturned.

Dr. C. G. Crist, county coroner, who was called to the scene of the accident, set the time of death at 1:15 o'clock this morning and the cause of death as a fractured skull and internal injuries. There will be no inquest unless further investigation reveals the need for one, Doctor Crist said.

State police who investigated said that Spencer was apparently traveling south on the road on a slight grade. The truck ran off the road on the left side, went 200 feet on the berm and then turned over on its side.

Crushed By Cab
Spencer was either partially thrown from the truck or had made an attempt to escape when he felt it overturning, police said. He was found half in and half out of the cab window with the top of the cab across his chest.

He apparently died a few seconds after the crash. A passing motorist found the wreck and stopped to investigate, discovering the body.

The body was removed to the Pittenturf funeral home at York Springs after a Wolf's garage tow truck from York Springs lifted the cab from the man's body, allowing police and others to extricate the corpse. Later the truck, which partly blocked the highway, was pulled to the side of the road by the Wolf tow truck and a tow truck of A. E. Hutchison, South Washington street.

LITTLESTOWN TEACHER QUILTS; ROTARY MEETS

The Board of Education of Littlestown held its monthly meeting Tuesday evening. The resignation of Mrs. Virginia Sheely, home economics teacher, was accepted with regret. A letter was read from the state Health department revealing the appointment of Dr. L. L. Potter as medical examiner for the Littlestown school district.

It was reported that the high school athletes were feted at a banquet at Schottle's May 29. The preschool clinic was held May 31, with Dr. Ralph Scafford and Mrs. Brenda Walker, school nurse, in charge. Twenty-six children were present. Littlestown high school and Biglerville ended in a tie in the school baseball league, and due to bad weather and the close of school the tie was not played off.

A communication from the county health office reported the condition of the school building "satisfactory." The meeting was attended by Directors Henry T. Waltman, Lloyd E. Crouse, Richard A. Little, Luther W. Ritter and Carl W. Baumgardner, and by Paul E. King, principal of schools.

CRASH SPOILS VACATION TRIP OF TWO WOMEN

Mrs. Bessie Weeks, 52, and Mrs. Mary M. Curtlett, 56, both of Baltimore, were injured this morning at 6:50 o'clock when their car crashed into a tree at the home of Lewis E. Small, Littlestown R. 2.

State police who investigated said that Mrs. Curtlett was driving a car owned by her husband, George Frederick Curtlett, from Baltimore toward Littlestown enroute to Wisconsin. About one mile southeast of Littlestown Mrs. Curtlett attempted to pass a car making a right hand turn and apparently lost control of her vehicle, driving off the side of the highway and knocking down a mail box owned by Small, a state highway department marker and finally striking the tree. She will be charged before a justice of the peace by state police with reckless driving.

Mrs. Weeks suffered a broken left leg and her face was cut on the right side by splintered glass. She also suffered other abrasions and contusions. Mrs. Curtlett suffered multiple lacerations of both legs and a chest injury.

Second Accident

Both women were taken to the Union Memorial hospital at Baltimore at the direction of a Littlestown physician who treated them at the scene of the accident.

Damage to the car was set at $400. In another accident in that vicinity during the last 24 hours a car driven by Merle E. Welty, 22, Hanover, traveling from Littlestown to Hanover, skidded on the wet road and overturned. Damage was estimated at $600, but no one was injured. It was not immediately learned whether state police had been called to investigate the accident.

WILL ORGANIZE COUNTY GROUP OF GIRL SCOUTS

Preliminary steps towards the creation of a county-wide girl scout organization will be taken in the near future with the meeting of a steering committee to be made up of representatives from each community in the county. This was decided at a meeting Tuesday evening of 70 men and women representing nearly every community in the county at the Lincoln school.

Miss Ruth Warfield, Miss Natalie Johnson and Miss Lois Houck, field representatives for Region 3 of the girl scouts spoke on the aims and purposes of such a set-up at the meeting. In her opening remarks Miss Warfield described the rapid growth of girl scouting during the war period in occupied countries and told the group that despite the fact that girl scouting was forbidden under the Nazis the organization actually doubled its size in the occupied countries. The girls acted as underground messengers and gave assistance to American and British fliers forced down in occupied territory, she added.

Open To All Girls
In Adams county during the past year, the number of scouts has doubled, Miss Warfield told the group. She urged the formation of a county organization "to promote closer unity and strengthen existing troops and to make it possible for every girl in the county to become a scout if she wants to be one."

With the assistance of the other staff advisers Miss Johnson explained the setup of a county council and outlined the steps involved in effecting such an organization. Miss Warfield will be in the county at various times to discuss the program with men and women who will be willing to back the movement with their interest and assistance.

State police of the Carlisle substation reported that the accident occurred when Glenn B. Feaser, 22, Mt. Holly Springs, while attempting to park his auto pulled out in front of Reinhart who was unable to swerve in time to avoid a collision. Information has been filed against Feaser for failure to signal on starting from parked position before Justice of the Peace Harry Fishel, Bolling Springs, according to police.

FIELD TRIP BY HISTORIANS IS TAKEN TUESDAY

The Low Dutch cemetery near Hunterstown, the Pines cemetery and church near New Chester, the old Studebaker farm and the Great Conewago Presbyterian church cemetery at Hunterstown were among places visited Tuesday evening at the annual trip of the Adams County Historical Society.

Traveling over a portion of the old York-Chambersburg pike, one of the oldest roads in the county, laid out in 1747-1748, the group paused briefly at the Low Dutch cemetery which marks the northern tip of the Holland Dutch and French Huguenot settlement that occupied a narrow strip of the county in the last half of the eighteenth century.

Dr. Henry Stewart told the group of how the Holland Dutch had come from New Jersey in 1765 in a mass migration and had settled on a long thin stretch of land lying between the more thickly settled German Dutch and Scotch-Irish sections. The colony lasted only about 30 years. In 1790 two mass migrations occurred with the majority of the Holland Dutch leaving Adams county. Part of the group went to New York state, the others went to Kentucky.

Church Was Nearby

The church, to which the Dutch cemetery, near Hunterstown, was connected, is believed to have been to the south of the cemetery along the Guildens road, Doctor Stewart told the group. Such a church is shown on the map of the county made in 1790, he added. The group was Dutch Reformed and not German Reformed, he stated.

One marker in the cemetery is inscribed, "In memory of George Brinkerhoff, and wife, the first family of the name that settled in Pennsylvania in 1770." On the side of that marker is the inscription "G.B. born October 9, 1719, and died January 3, 1810, aged 90 years." Members of the Brinkerhoff family were among the Low Dutch who remained after the mass migration out of the county.

The latest monument in the cemetery was erected some years ago by descendants of the Vanorsdel family. Other families who, according to the tombstones, were in the Low Dutch group included the Montforts, Van Duxen Comfort (now Comfort), Salz-givers and Bercaus.

In 1884 General Brinkerhoff visited.

SEVERE WINDS, RAIN AND HAIL CAUSE DAMAGE

Heavy rains accompanied by winds of gale-like velocity swept Gettysburg and Adams county early Tuesday evening and this morning and caused damage to telephone cables and wires and to lines and fuses of the Metropolitan Edison Company. Other damage was confined in the main to trees, heavily damaged in the wind and rain storm. There was some hail. Phone service in the Seminary and Steinwehr avenues' sections was broken when two cables were burned. It was estimated by the United Telephone Company that more than 300 homes were without telephone service for several hours.

Trees Damaged

Some trees in the Carlisle street section disrupting telephone service in a number of homes in the area. Practically all the damage had been repaired by noon today.

When a tree was blown across some light wires in the Fifth street section many fuses were blown out and many homes were without electric service. It also disrupted service in some rural areas.

Line crews worked until 4 o'clock this morning repairing the damage.

Elsewhere in the county the damage, so far as could be learned today, was confined to damage to trees. Some were reported uprooted and others had limbs ripped out or broken.

One of the oldest trees on the college campus was blown down.

Garage Damaged
The storm appeared to be especially strong through the Orrtanna-Knoxlyn section. A large tree was blown over the newly-erected garage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dearthoff, Orrtanna R. 1, about 9:30 o'clock and considerably damaged the structure.

Another large tree was blown against the roof of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Dearthoff, nearby.

A number of trees were reported blown down along the road leading from Knoxlyn to the Fairfield road.

YOUTHS ADMIT STEALING GUN

A meeting of the Highland township school board Monday evening at Glenwood school at Knoxlyn led to the detention Tuesday of two Highland youths who, according to police, stole a revolver valued at $500 from the Lee Museum.

Members of the board were startled Monday evening when they entered the school to find the door unlocked. Inside they found the revolver and a pair of cowboy boots. Since nothing had been disturbed at the school, the board held its meeting and, after adjourning, called state police.

Investigating, the officers found the two boys near McKnightstown Tuesday. They admitted taking the revolver and to sleeping in the school. Brought before juvenile court they are being held here for their parents and the New York police.

The revolver, owned by E. F. Larson, Buford avenue, was described as being of a French pin cartridge type and is said to be the only one of its type to have been used in the Civil War. It was found on the battlefield here in 1863.

Special USWV Committee Will Select Encampment City For 1947 Meeting

The United Spanish War Veterans, Department of Pennsylvania, concluded their 42nd annual encampment here Tuesday afternoon with the election of officers, adoption of several resolutions and the installation of the newly chosen leaders for 1947, but failed to pick next year's convention city.

Reporting immediately after the election, which took place at the opening of the afternoon session, the time and place committee, through its chairman, Robert E. Tipton, Gettysburg, asked the department commander to name a special committee to seek a 1947 convention site.

Fear Heavy Expense

The committee said it had been unable obtain a place, because of the housing shortage and because local camps appeared loath to assume the financial responsibility entailed in entertaining the department delegates. It was recommended that the department adopt a resolution guaranteeing payment of any deficit, with the provision that if there remained a surplus, it would go to the host camp.

The report of the committee was adopted, over the opposition of John U. Shroyer, Shamokin, past department commander, who argued that the surplus, if any, should go to the department if it were to assume responsibility for a deficit. Commander Martz appointed George T. Diddyong, N. W. Ream and John A. Zimmerman, the latter of Gettysburg, on the special committee. The committee will investigate possible convention locations and report to the administrative council at a later date.

May Return Bonds

Among the resolutions adopted was one which would give back to the government, upon maturity, approximately $227,000 worth of government bonds, and to dispose of the real estate, valued at $41,500, to younger veterans when the USWV passes out of existence.

The resolution was presented by Butler camp No. 33. It will be submitted to the national encampment for action. The resolution pointed out that the average age of Spanish war veterans is now 71, and that in another quarter of a century the organization will have ceased to exist.

It cited that the USWV possessed real estate valued at $41,500; government bonds of $227,000 and cash of $50,000. The national body's annual income exceeds by $16,000 its annual expenses, the resolution declared, and it asked "that proper provision be made to assure the passing" of the real estate to younger veteran organizations, and the return of the bonds, at maturity, to the government, "to help reduce the national debt."

The resolution further recommended that national headquarters assist each department in defraying the expenses of department encampments.

Local Resolution

The convention adopted a resolution submitted by William M. Steffy Post No. 126, Gettysburg, and approved by the resolutions committee, as follows:

"Resolved, by the United Spanish War Veterans assembled at Gettysburg this tenth day of June, 1946, that this convention go on record as being of the opinion that the jurisdiction of the Gettysburg Military Park be placed with the War Department of the United States and that a competent military personnel be placed in charge thereof, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the President of the United States and to every member of Congress, and be it further known, that this is the only national cemetery that has been dedicated by a president of the United States."

The park is under the jurisdiction at present of the Interior department.

Want G.A.R. Highway

The department encampment also adopted a resolution asking the state to change the name of U. S. Route No. 6, across the state, now known as the "Roosevelt highway," to the "Grand Army of the Republic" highway, in line with action in other states, and that the commonwealth find another suitable main highway to be designated as the "Roosevelt highway."

The resolution declared that U. S. Route No. 6 is a transcontinental highway, extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific; that it traverses 14 states, nine of which have already taken action to designate it as the "G.A.R." highway.

A resolution was passed contributing $200 from the department treasury to the Pennsylvania Department band of Philadelphia, which played here Sunday and marched in the parade. Another resolution, submitted originally by Chaplain T. G. Steward camp of Pittsburgh, was referred back to the resolutions committee and adopted in revised form. The resolution, as adopted was:

Protest VA Delays

"The resolution presented by Camp No. 116, department of Pennsylvania, making a complaint of delays in the handling of various cases presented by their members for consideration by the United States Veterans Administration have and are subject to delay that is so protracted that the veterans suffer needless anxiety awaiting action by the Veterans Administration.

"Therefore, the Department of Pennsylvania, USWV, Inc. petitions that the national headquarters of the U. S. Veterans Administration be appraised of the situation and requested that immediate action be taken.

BUTLER BEATS GRISWOLD IN NEBRASKA VOTE

(By The Associated Press)

Senator Hugh A. Butler won re-nomination handily over Governor Dwight Griswold in Nebraska yesterday to cloud Harold E. Stassen's prospects for the state's Republican convention votes in 1948.

In another primary contest Senator Charles C. Gossett (D-Iowa) was unseated by State Senator George E. Donart, supported by Gossett's democratic colleague, Senator Glen Taylor.

Stassen, who helped write the San Francisco Charter, backed Griswold because he liked the three-term governor's demand that America play a strong international role, and what he called Griswold's "progressive" views on domestic issues.

Butler is a first-term member who voted against lend-lease, the British loan, draft act extension, UNRA and the Bretton Woods financial agreements. Griswold said Butler wanted to "sidetrack internationalism."

Stassen has a chance to regain in Minnesota's July 8 senatorial primary whatever prestige he lost in Nebraska yesterday. But it's rather clear now that he cannot count on Nebraska's 15 votes in the presidential nominating convention.

He is supporting Gov. Edward J. Thye against Senator Henrik Shipstead in the Minnesota contest.

How much Butler's victory was due to the international issue and how much to the fact that Stassen was an outsider intervening in the primary cannot be measured.

However, Senator Brooks (R-Ill.) himself a conservative in international dealings, said: "This is another evidence that the states do not want outside interference in the election of their representatives in the U. S. Congress."

Sweeping Victory By GOP Predicted

Harrisburg, Pa., June 12 (AP)—Gov. Edward Martin predicts the Republicans will carry Pennsylvania in the November election by possibly 400,000 votes.

Martin was nominated to oppose Democratic incumbent Joseph P. Guffey for the U. S. Senate seat.

The Keystone state's chief executive had asserted earlier that the GOP slate would sweep Pennsylvania by at least 290,000 votes but yesterday told a news conference "that will grow to 400,000 and we would take more."

Guffey is seeking re-election to a third term.

Martin declared that Att. Gen. James H. Duff, candidate for governor on the GOP ticket, was right in his contention that the party's base should be broadened to bring in all progressive and liberal elements.

Damage, which was covered by insurance, was estimated to have amounted to over $1,000.

Say Rains Helping State Oats Yield

Harrisburg, June 12 (AP)—One of the largest oats crops in recent years is anticipated by the State Department of Agriculture following beneficial rains during the month of May.

The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service also indicated yesterday that yields for wheat and rye will be a bushel an acre larger than was expected a month earlier.

Production of oats is expected to be 29,716,000 bushels, largest since 1941, while the winter wheat yield was estimated at 18,438,000 bushels, only 1,600,000 under the large 1945 crop. Spring wheat was expected to total 240,000 bushels.

Supplementing earlier reports on crop damage due to flood conditions in the Susquehanna River basin the department said fields that were not contoured "were badly washed and some gullied." Potato acreage, where the plants were not washed out, "are showing considerable rot" as a result of flood conditions, the department added.

Bread Price Rises With OPA Approval

Washington, June 12 (AP)—The price of that elusive loaf of bread advanced a penny today with OPA approval.

The increase is effective immediately, along with a price boost of one cent a dozen for bread rolls.

The higher prices apply to all kinds of bread except rye, which went up two cents a loaf April 30.

Prices are being raised, OPA said, because bakers' production costs have climbed as a result of a 25 per cent cut in the amount of flour they may use. The reduction was ordered to help meet famine relief requirements.

Letter to the Editor

June 8, 1946

Dear Sir:

May I call attention to the fact that General Lee called the war of 1861-65, "The Civil Strife?" It would seem to follow that that war should be called "The Civil War."

Incidentally a young midshipman recently made the comment the war should hardly even be called that since, said he, "No war is ever civil."

Very truly,

John H. Knickerbocker,
Librarian,
Gettysburg College.

WHERE THERE'S SMOKE—Kansas City, (AP)—Dense, black smoke enveloped the 14-story Kansas City club.

A man, baggage in hand, crawled out of a 13th floor window and began scrambling down a fire escape as 400 or 500 spectators on the ground yelled at him.

The more they yelled the faster he came until he reached the second floor level where their shouts must have become intelligible. For he stopped, gazed despairingly at the steps rising endlessly above him and began his return trip.

They had been trying to tell him the source of the fire—burning tar paper protecting a freshly-laid sidewalk.

BOSTON HITTERS BEAT CLEVELAND

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Pinky Higgins and Rudy York, a couple of Detroit has-beens, are two big reasons why the Boston Red Sox are 10 games out front in the American league.

Higgins hasn't been around Fenway Park very long but in his latest stay he has added over 100 points to his batting average with a sensational 17 for 30 (.567) clip in a Red Sox uniform. His season average to date is an ample .333.

York's average of .308 isn't quite as dazzling as Ted Williams', Dominic DiMaggio's or Johnny Pesky's, but it's plenty above his 264 at Detroit last season. His 44 runs batted in gives him third place in the American and boosted his lifetime total to 980.

Murder Indians

Higgins and York were in murderous batting moods yesterday as the Red Sox came from behind to trounce Cleveland, 10-5. It was their 12th win in a 13-game streak that also includes a 12-inning tie, Higgins knocked in six runs with a homer, triple and two singles and York had a perfect "4 for 4" afternoon, including two doubles and a home run.

Hal Newhouser joined the 10-win circle by hurling the Detroiters to an 8-3 decision over the New York Yankees.

Doubles by Walt Judnich and John Berardino helped Tex Shirley and the St. Louis Browns down Washington, 6-2, beating Sid Hudson. Edgar Smith outduelled Russ Christopher, as Chicago blanked the Athletics, 1-0, in a game marked by a White Sox triple play.

Brooklyn Humbled

Brooklyn's National league lead shrunk to one game when the Dodgers fell before St. Louis, 9-3. The largest night crowd of the year at Sportsman's Park, 29,273 watched the Red Birds humble the Brooks for the fourth straight time.

Johnny Vander Meer went the route for the first time this season, scattering eight hits to give the Cincinnati Reds a 3-2 edge over New York.

Those amazing Phillies reeled off their 10th victory in their last 14 starts, drubbing the Chicago Cubs, 4-1. Five straight first-inning hits scored all the runs, leaving the Phils only one game behind the seventh-place Giants.

Catcher Hank Camelli's triple with the bases loaded enabled Pittsburgh to top Boston, 5-3, in another night game.

Believe 285 Will Win National Open

Cleveland, June 12 (AP)—The nation's par-busters think it will take par-busting to win the 46th National Open Golf championship—but not by much.

Consensus among the players was that a 285 would be the winner—and that would be only three under par.

For their final practice round the 133 professional and 39 amateur qualifiers for golfdom's No. 1 classic had a soaking wet course over which to whet their blades, due to a heavy overnight downpour.

Only a small portion of the huge field participated yesterday in a best-ball attraction, which went to Bruce Coltart of Absecon, N. J., and Amateur Howard Everitt of Philadelphia on a combined effort of 31-33-64, eight under par for the 6,926-yard layout.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, June 12 (AP)—A tip from State College, Pa., said: "Keep your eye on Barney Ewell in the AAU track championships," and Barney confirmed it last week-end by running 220 yards in world record time. . . . At Penn State, where he's a special student and training under his old coach, Chick Werner, Ewell spotted a former teammate, Norm Gordon, ten yards in a hundred the other day and then ran the distance in 9.6 seconds to win a two-bit bet. Another time he gave a "ribber" 20 yards in 300 and ripped off 30.8 seconds to win. . . . Tom Lieb, former Florida coach, needed only a month after he joined the Alabama staff to find a house and move his family in. If he can find players as easily, Tom should do the Crimson Tide a lot of good.

When Three British sports writers visited Joe Lewis' training camp the other day, one of Joe's first questions was about the date of the British open golf championship. Louis still regrets that when his army tour took him to Glasgow, he couldn't get away to visit the royal and ancient at St. Andrews. . . . Bones McKinney, who sparked North Carolina's near-champion basketball team last winter, has left school to take a job with a Winston-Salem hosiery company. Any Nylons? . . . Tex Coulter, busted out of West Point, can be signed to play pro ball this season if he doesn't enter a college but would go into the draft next winter. . . . The fact that he wasn't on this year's list proves that the National League's mathematics is better than Tex's.

FISH STORY

Al Ennis, Philly Eagles' publicist, reports that one athlete, answering a questionnaire, explained that during college summer vacations he "learned the gentle art of relaxation by fishing" and at Christmas time he fished. "What is your hobby?" he replied: "Fishing." . . . Likely that guy would agree that the team that won't be bait can't be bait.

Doctor Says Joe Is Not So Sharp

Pompton Lakes, N. J., June 12 (AP)—You'd imagine a fighter would think twice before criticizing Joe Louis' fighting skill, especially when he's a sparring partner earning his coffee and cakes letting Joe pot-shot at him, thereby giving the bomber a daily chance to ram his words right back where they came from.

Anyway, Al Hodsman's observations about what is wrong with Joe at the moment—largely that he's making mistakes in the ring, among them that he tips an opponent off when he's ready to let go his big punch—were more or less borne out by a New York state athletic commission physician yesterday.

Blood Pressure Up
Dr. Vincent Nardiello examined Joe before what was the worst workout of his training drill for Billy Conn June 19 and said Louis was ready to fight. Then he gave Joe the double-O again, after the work and did an about face. This is what he said the second time around: "Joe's blood pressure went too high during the workout, indicating he might tire at 15 rounds. He wasn't sharp, particularly with his counter-punching. Frankly, he wasn't as good as I expected him to be. Of course, all this could be overcome with a few days more training, and he has until next Wednesday."

Inter State League

Wilmington jumped into a half-game lead as top dog in the Interstate league pennant race by taking both ends of a doubleheader from Hagerstown last night while Rain idled Trenton to push the Giants into second place.

The Blue Rocks blanked Hagerstown, 5-0, in the first game then duplicated their scoring feats to defeat the Owls, 5-1, in the finale.

Sunbury climbed over Hagerstown into third place when its game with Lancaster was called at the end of the fifth inning because of rain with the score deadlocked at 4-4. Rain also halted the York-Allentown contest in the sixth inning, but the game went to York by a 2-1 count.

The Harrisburg-Trenton contest was postponed because of rain. Tonight's schedule:

SOFTBALL LOOP VOTES TO BAR COLLEGE STARS

College players, unless bonafide residents of the county, were barred from participation in the Community Softball league at a meeting of officials Tuesday evening at the fire engine house.

In an effort to offset the the ruling and also to aid teams who have a number of players on their rosters who have never appeared for a game, it was decided to permit team managers to form new rosters which will be published Saturday and will be effective for the second round of games starting next Monday. Players are ineligible for transfer from one team to another.

An insurance agent attended the meeting and presented a schedule of policies for the protection of players. It was decided to leave the insurance problem in the hands of team managers and their individual players.

George Gorman, treasurer of the league, reported the treasury now has approximately $150 deposited.

"Tim" Sanders, manager of the Ice and Storage team, offered to keep both playing fields lined free of charge.

President William McCleaf presided at the meeting with all teams represented with the exception of the American Legion and Acme.

GUILD MAY TAKE BASEBALL FIGHT TO STATE BOARD

Pittsburgh, June 12 (AP)—The newly-formed American Baseball Guild reeled today as the National Labor Relations Board ordered charges of unfair labor practices filed against the Pittsburgh Pirates be either withdrawn or dismissed.

There was no immediate comment from Robert Murphy, Guild chieftain, who was reported staying with friends in New York City.

Murphy's next move to achieve recognition of his union is doubtful, but it is believed he may appeal to the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board.

Murphy had asserted earlier he had chosen Pittsburgh as the Guilds testing ground because "it is covered by both the national labor and state acts."

"I am sure," he was quoted, "it is covered by the Pennsylvania Labor Act if not by the national one."

And the Keystone state labor group likely would accept jurisdiction of the dispute in which Murphy seeks a bargaining election among Pittsburgh Pirate players.

George L. Reed, solicitor for the PLRB, asserted last night in Harrisburg that "I don't know why the state board could not receive and act on a petition for an election."

Max C. Baylison, Philadelphia regional director of the state board, said he saw no reason why Pennsylvania could not take jurisdiction.

And that seemed Murphy's only avenue to a possible union victory.

The National Labor Relations Board yesterday called two strikes on Murphy's efforts to unionize baseball, ruling:

1. Not to hold formal meetings at this time that involve the question of possible jurisdiction over professional baseball teams.

2. To dismiss charges of unfair labor practices brought by Murphy against the Pittsburgh baseball club.

The NLRB decision was announced by Frank Kleier, chief of the NLRB regional office in Pittsburgh.

Will Dismiss Case
"Both the petition (for an election to determine bargaining rights) and the charge of unfair labor practices) will be dismissed if they are not withdrawn," Kleier said.

Murphy "technically" can appeal to the NLRB in Washington, Kleier pointed out, but asserted "it is unlikely that an appeal would be considered at this time."

William E. Benswanger, Pirates' president, was "gratified" to hear the decision.

It was Murphy's second setback within a week. Last Friday night the Pirate players dramatically cancelled a strike an hour before their scheduled game with the New York Giants.

The strike cancellation prompted Murphy to file his unfair labor practices charge against the club alleging Pirate officials urged employees to "deal with management through a players' committee" instead of the Guild, and tried to "persuade" players to cease Guild activities.

Today's Talk
THE BEAUTY OF TOUCH

How very many of us recall "the touch of a vanished hand"! Over the years its warmth and understanding grow more precious, and its invisible beauty takes its station forever in the heart.

The sense of touch is one of the rarest and most blessed of all the gifts with which Nature has endowed us. Only last evening I sat within a few feet of that remarkable genius, the blind pianist Alec Templeton. The touch of those fingers to the ivory keys—what inspiration flowed from that kindly soul of his! Like the softness of light itself was the touch of each finger as it found its perfect place upon the keyboard.

I have watched lovers of fine wood as they have explained to me its beauty, and I have noted how each took particular delight in running his hands over its surface, as though on intimate terms with every grain. Lovers of antique furniture do this. As a lover of beautifully bound or printed books, I gain the same delight when I hold such things of beauty in my hands. And with almost reverence I hold a rare and precious volume of a beloved writer. I thrill at the touch.

For hours at my Summer island home I have carried about with me some delicate, small flower whose meeting has given me delight. The very touch of its stem inspiring me! Almost miraculous is the touch of the blind person, skimming rapidly over the raised letters before him, but which he cannot see. It is instinctive to want to touch beautiful things. Soft fabrics, familiar articles, beautiful leathers, and smooth surfaces, for example. In one of Jess Stuart's books he tells of coming back to the old farm, and going out into the forest, and running his hand over the bark of the trees, on many a chip from which he has formerly jotted down a poem.

You recall the story in the Bible of the woman who was ill, and who determined that she would be made well could she but touch the hem of the garment of Christ—which she did. And immediately did He know that His garment had been touched. And her faith won!

The touch of the human hand is really the touch of the heart—its agency for spiritual expression. And there is an invisible touch of words that stir our emotions, and make us conscious of the beautiful blending of universal thought.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Lesson of Sorrow"

GERMANS USED FIVE DIVISIONS AGAINST DRAJA

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, June 12 (AP)—Gen. Draja Mihailovic admitted at the trial for his life Tuesday that he met the Germans in "the second half of November" of 1941 and declared that the meeting followed a German attack against him "with five divisions."

The Chetnik leader, on trial by Marshal Tito's Yugoslav regime for alleged treason and collaboration with the enemy, said that at one time, he couldn't do anything with "many of the troops who recognized my command."

He opened his defense with the statement that "I don't feel guilty."

The court president tried to get the underground warrior to answer yes or no to a question of guilt, but the defendant merely repeated: "I don't feel guilty."

Refuse Testimony
Opening the case yesterday, the Yugoslav government of Marshal Tito—who had just returned from two weeks of conferences in Moscow—charged that an American officer took part in conferences between Mihailovic and a German commander in 1944 and that a British officer told Mihailovic a year earlier to "liquidate the Communists" in Yugoslavia. Tito's regime has refused to allow Americans or Britons to testify for Mihailovic, first underground leader to gain prominence in the overrun countries during the war.

FIELD TRIP BY
ited this section and along with many other descendants of the Low Dutch in this section visited the old cemetery, Dr. W. C. Storrick, local historian, said at the cemetery. They found the wall about the cemetery fallen down and the site in poor shape. A committee of which Doctor Storrick was a member was formed to raise funds and care for the place. In 1888 the wall was rebuilt about the cemetery. Prior to that $500 was placed in trust at the First National bank and since that time the cemetery has been cared for from the trust fund.

At "The Pines" the group was told by Doctor Stewart of the founding there apparently about 1750 of a Presbyterian church located in what is now the rear of the cemetery there. About 20 tombstones of the early Scotch-Irish Presbyterians are standing in the rear of the cemetery about a slightly raised mound which appears to have been the base of the original log church, which is believed to have remained there until 1803 when a union log church was constructed which in turn gave way in 1861 to the present St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church.

The Presbyterians were a branch of the old Hill congregation and were a dissenting group belonging to the Associate Presbyterian church.

Visit Studebaker Farm
Among the old graves are those of Alexander McIntyre, who died in 1766; William McFarland, who died in 1782; Archibald Douglas, 1762; Thomas McCauslin, 1789; Nanie McFarland, 1782; Hugh Caldwell, 1785; Margaret Kerr, 1753; John Monteth, 1789.

From "The Pines" which apparently at one time stood in the center of a forest of pines, the group drove to the old Studebaker farm, along Conewago creek near Heidelberg.

There they inspected the shop where the Studebakers made wagons back in the early days of the county, before moving westward to found later the Studebaker wagon company which in turn became the Studebaker automobile company.

The log structure is built with a wide door, to allow the easy entrance and removal of the wagons. It is used at present as a storage shed.

Last stop on the trip was the Great Conewago Presbyterian cemetery, near Hunterstown. One of the oldest in the county, it contains members of a congregation which has been in existence since before 1740 when it was first mentioned as existing in the records of the Presbytery of Donegal.

Among the graves in the cemetery is that of John Brown who died in 1760 at the age of 104, and the grave of James Ross who died December 15, 1741 at the age of 67.

The group voted to stage another field trip September 10 at an informal business session held at the cemetery.

CAT-CHOO!

"It looks like the end for Midnight," Moynahan told Detective Peter Harlib.

Harlib, however, solved the case when he discovered the cause of the cat's antics. Midnight had been nosing around a box of snuff which some policeman had dropped.

Painter Charged In Woman's Slaying

Philadelphia, June 12 (AP)—Douglas Applegate, 46-year-old painter, today was charged with homicide in the strangulation slaying of Mrs. Mary Duffy, 39, a red-haired woman with whom he was living.

Detective Lt. James Kelly said Applegate, held in custody since Saturday when he reported discovery of the nude, mutilated body to police, would be arraigned before Magistrate William Hagan today.

A 46-year-old man, Franklin M. Hubbell, is being held as a material witness, Kelly said. Hubbell was present when Applegate had a violent argument with Mrs. Duffy in front of their apartment shortly before her slaying was reported, Kelly said.

Mrs. Duffy was found sprawled on the floor of her bedroom, nude, with two initials burned into her abdomen. An autopsy report said the branding was done after the woman was dead.

Faber, father of the present owner, hung out his sign on the present location when he started a cigar store and factory. Some time after 1920 her husband installed a soda fountain. During the Seventy-fifth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg, food was served and this was continued and gradually built up to the present regular luncheon service.

Following the meeting Mrs. Elberhart entertained the group in her apartment in the hotel, where her niece, Miss Mary Clare Myers, a student at Juilliard School of Music, gave an impromptu piano recital.

Nylons More Important
Charter membership in the Gettysburg branch will be open until January 1, 1947. It has been announced. College women interested in membership should apply to Mrs. McGlynn, Biglerville, or any other chapter officer.

Pointing to forces of disunity in America, Miss Shattuck declared that Americans are too "complacent and indifferent and we allow the press and radio commentators to do our thinking for us. . . Nylons are more precious than ideas, and palatial homes in Greenwich and Westchester are far more important than a home for the United Nations where they may work out peace and security for all mankind. It is time for Americans to come of age, and the time is already running out. If we are to survive, we must wake up before it is too late."

Miss Shattuck discussed current national problems, citing the "tremendous moral responsibility of America's power," the general concept of national sovereignty and "our fear of the Soviet Union." She cited historical backgrounds to show the Russians have "every reason" to distrust the western powers. She made special reference to race and religious intolerance in America.

What Women Can Do
She called for a revival "of the three institutions that are the basic foundations of our society, the home, the church and the school.

Answering her own question: "What can women do?" Miss Shattuck declared: "Women can stabilize the home and help spread its good influence throughout the community. The obligation for religious and moral training rests on every parent. Women can help elect better-qualified men to state and national legislatures.

"Women can campaign for higher salaries for teachers and for better educated men to administer the school system. They also can demand greater attention to health and social welfare, to the care of the afflicted and the insane, to social problems and social democracy."

Boston Symphony orchestra played. He also gave a review of the talk of Quentin Reynolds on the food needs of the rest of the world.

Stanley B. Stover gave a resume of the talk of Thomas Warren, president of Rotary International, in which the good of Rotary to the world was discussed. We must live, work and talk together in order to get along with the rest of the world, the speaker stated. Mr. Stover also told of the program broadcast in which ladies from 18 countries were interviewed. All liked the United States, and would like to make another visit here. The ladies were wives of Rotarians.

Other Reports

E. W. Dunbar, who had charge of one of the programs of all the secretaries present at the convention, reported that most secretaries serve many years. He discussed at the meeting of secretaries the history which the Littlestown secretary, L. D. Snyder, has written of the Littlestown club. Mr. Snyder is completing his 18th year as secretary. Mr. Dunbar predicted the expansion of Rotary into China and India, which he believes will become democratic and eventually have more clubs than other countries. Mr. Dunbar is an outstanding figure in Rotary International, having been a governor of a Massachusetts district, and also a director of Rotary International.

Walter P. Crouse discussed the agricultural meeting held at Atlantic City.

Chapter 28

When the Count finished signing the document, the Senator placed it in front of Paul and said brusquely, looking at the Count.

"Barberini, you know Paul Scott was not cheating at baccarat the night of October 25th."

"That is right."

"Say it after me — 'I know Paul Scott was not cheating at baccarat the night of October 25th.'"

The Count repeated the words slowly, looking directly now at Paul who was standing on the other side of the library table.

"It was a bad mistake I made that night, Paul," he added hastily. "One I deeply regret. I apologize for my indiscretion." For the first time that afternoon his voice vibrated with something more than controlled antagonism. "My signature affixed to this statement your lawyer has prepared for me, is my formal acknowledgment of the mistake I made that night. I am sorry."

"I accept your statement, Barberini. I believe you are making it in good faith," Paul answered quietly. "A dollar in hand—given me by you will satisfy my claim against you for personal damages."

"You mean you will drop the libel action against me?"

The anxiety in the man's voice suddenly showed the emotional strain he had been going through. Paul nodded.

The next few minutes were filled with legal phrases, explanations and more apologies. Then the episode was closed. The Senator and Paul agreed to the squashing of the libel suit and the tension of the afternoon was over. The Count had said goody to Polly and Spuds and was standing by Whitney's chair just before leaving.

"I go back to my country next week, Whitney. But I take with me the memory of many happy hours with you. That no one can take from me."

Sudden, unexpected tears burned in Whitney's eyes as she looked up at him. "I am sorry—it is good-bye," she said softly.

He held her hand a moment, then bent low over it as he said in a stifled voice.

"Luck at cards—unlucky in love. It is always true. Vale, carissima."

He walked away with quick determined strides, but at the door he turned to the Senator.

"There is just one more thing, Senator Field. May I have the paper from the Tavern Club?"

"But—of course."

The next minute Count Barberini had taken it and disappeared down the great hall. William came in with cocktails as they heard his car starting on the driveway.

"I was afraid at first you were going to have trouble with him," Spuds observed. "Of course, he had everything to gain by acceding to your demands, but he's got a stubborn, bull-headed pride."

"Yes, and he's a smart punk, in a way," Paul picked up his cocktail glass and held it out toward Whitney. "Here's to the girl who really turned the trick today. He folded all right when he knew we had that old Tavern Club statement he'd signed. That was good work, Whitney. I never expected that paper to show up again."

Says Love Affair Spoiled First Fight

By GAYLE TALBOT

Greenwood Lake, N. J., June 12 (AP)—The Billy Conn who steps out all alone to face Joe Louis a week from tonight at Yankee stadium will be in vastly better shape mentally, as well as physically than the Conn who went down under a hurricane of fists five years ago.

It is known now that the kid from Pittsburgh was in a terrific mental turmoil that other night, and that he had been in such a state for several preceding days that he scarcely had eaten or slept. It had nothing to do with Louis or the fight.

"Billy was in love, worse than anyone ever was in the world," recalls his manager, Johnny Ray. "Honest, I thought he was going nuts. He didn't know whether his father-in-law that is, his present father-in-law, was going to let them marry."

"Well, that's all over now. Billy's happily married and has two children and he's got a little dough. He doesn't have a worry in the world, except how to beat Louis. That's what's going to make the big difference this time."

In spite of the general air of relief from the tension they had been feeling on that afternoon, Whitney had a strange feeling of growing concern. She saw Polly watching her with a puzzled expression in her eyes which worried Whitney more than she cared to admit, even to herself. Underneath the surface of Polly's quite acceptance of facts, Whitney felt her sister's continued disapproval.

During the past weeks she hadn't covered herself with glory. That she had to admit, Paul was being very abstract and extremely noncommittal and this afternoon, Polly must have seen that, too.

"Well, Paul, what are you going to do now?" she heard the Senator ask as William built up a roaring fire and they all settled down for the kind of an evening Whitney loved best at Random Polly—Paul and her family and after-dinner music—and perhaps one last look at the horses before she went to bed.

Paul would go with her to the stables this evening before he left for home—and then they would ride in the morning—early.

"I flew back for this libel case but I'm going to leave for the West coast in a couple of days. I have a position with the Air Lines Aviation Company out there."

So that was it. A sudden blank seemed to encompass the world for Whitney. The things she had attempted hadn't jelled with Paul at all. She had been the one who had demanded a change in their "status quo" when he came home. Well, she had gotten what she asked for. And it had left Paul free as the air to come and go where he pleased without her. Right from the start he hadn't taken it the way she had expected he would. He had just gone on his own way and had avoided making dates with her. Now he had made this radical decision about his future without even mentioning it to her.

Maybe she was one of the girls who only have one romance. If she muffed that one then she'd have to spend her life as a career girl... carrying a torch for Washington bigwigs. It was all a rotten mess. She had certainly gummed up everything from the start.

She had never felt so forlorn or neglected.

taken to correct the present stalemate.
The Pittsburgh camp's complaint stemmed from at least one case in which a veteran and his wife had separated, and it was said, the veteran's pension money had been held up.

Financial Report

The resolutions committee reported unfavorably on the resolution of General George Dewey Camp No. 86 Altoona, endorsing John White, Texas, for national commander and Horace Habner, Iowa, for senior vice commander, although approving the sentiment of the resolution. It held, however, that endorsements should come from individual camps.

The report of the auditors listed receipts during the year of $5,122.79, disbursements of $3,899.59 and a balance of $1,223.20, with all expenses of the convention here paid.

In the concluding minutes of the convention, remarks were made by several past department commanders; the Gettysburg address was delivered by P. J. Kammerer, Newville, Lincoln impersonator, officers were installed, and a resolution was adopted thanking Steffy post and the borough of Gettysburg for its hospitality.

Install Officers

New officers were installed by Past Department Commander Shroyer, with Past Commander E. L. Solomon, Wilkes-Barre, as master of ceremonies. The officers, elected at the opening of the afternoon session, are:

Commander, Oscar Kamp, Milton; senior vice commander, Norman R. Snyder, Altoona; junior vice commander, George C. Sittler, Philadelphia; Inspector, John A. Zimmerman, Gettysburg, and chaplain, Martin M. Knuth, Scranton. Commander Kamp announced the appointment of Jerome C. Fetzer, Milton, as adjutant, and Leo Montz, Milton, as quartermaster. A past commander's badge was presented to Mr. Martz.

LONG AND THIN

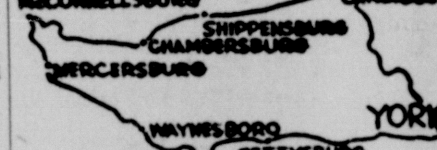

Skokie, Ill. (AP)—If the owner of a single lot in this Chicago suburb wants to build a house the dimensions, under the law, must be something like a bowling alley.

Many lots in Skokie are 30 feet wide. However, the village's building ordinance specifies that no house may be built which does not have at least 1,000 square feet of floor space, and also requires that a house be four feet distant, on either side, from property lines.

Thus, on a 30-foot lot, a house can't be more than 22 feet wide, and must be slightly more than 45 feet deep.
